

PLATE 2: SWC 21. Crossed nicols. Long axis: 2.2 mm

An atypical field but showing characteristic development of clayey lithic clasts in these group B and C lithologies. The central patch is a soft clay clast which has been deformed and squeezed between adjacent quartz grains. Thus the porosity has been reduced.